

I am Pusheen the cat . I like cookies very much .

The diagram illustrates three input-predict pairs for the sentence "I am Pusheen the cat . I like cookies very much .". Each pair is represented by a horizontal brace with the word "input" centered below the left portion and the word "predict" centered below the right portion. The first pair spans from the start of the sentence to the end of the first period. The second pair spans from the start of the second sentence to the end of the second period. The third pair spans from the start of the third sentence to the end of the third period.

input predict

input predict

input predict